Rob Breese – Tie One On

A SPECTACULAR Career in Country Music that spans over three and a half decades. Out of the limelight for most of it, Rob has achieved so much.

He started his musical career with guitar lessons at the mere age of seven. Later on picked up playing piano. Robs piano playing took him to be the Musical Director for Tamworth on Parade in the 1990s and saw him behind the grand at the Sydney Opera House for three consecutive years.

His love for country music was inevitable after visiting Tamworth in the early eighties with his very good friend , the late Ray Griffiths, where he was introduced to many of the stars we call legends today. In the early nineties after being in and out of bands, Rob joined forces with one of his guitar playing and vocal Idol Doug Rowe where a thirty year friendship and award winning duo was formed.

Robs solo career took him to England, Ireland and Scotland. Around Australia twice and extensive tours within the eastern states. He boasts over a dozen albums to his name and countless productions for other artists throughout Australia.

These days he has a successful business in Country Music Capital Tamworth, A Quarter horse Stud, and recording studio, and enjoys time out to play at a vastly growing amount of Country Music Festivals,, where he is in high demand as a guest artist, backing musician and audio engineer, when time permits.
