Darren Gillis - Whiskey On My Grave

As I grow, I'm exploring my sound. Among other instruments, violin was used in this track to add to the impact and vibe. While death can be a sad event, I have attempted to change that view with my lyrics. It should be celebrated. Don't weep or be consumed by sadness but rather think back on the good times because when we get there we have lived life to its fullest and now we are going to make some noise in the afterlife.
