Where The Cowgirls Go

If you've ever lived in a small or country town, you'll know how communities are brought together by the country dance or bush dance at the local community hall. "Where The Cowgirls Go" is a reflection of exactly that, the guys looking for a great night out after a hard days yakka on the farm and the Cowgirls looking to kick their heels up with a good looking farmhand.

Maddie dived at the chance to record this song written by the Nashville team of Jared Hill, Michael Flanders and David Schumacher as coming from a small town herself, she heavily identified with the story line of the song.

It was also a magnificent opportunity put before her to record with an American Country artist of the calibre of Jared Hill.
